

Floral Design

Students in the Floral Design program cut and place flowers in floral arrangements, including bouquets, wreaths, and baskets. They develop the skills needed to work in retail stores and to learn to deal with customers by phone or in person.

Creativity is essential to this field and an artist's eye and a knack for combining colors are necessary.

Major Units of Study

- Identification of plants common to the floral industry
- Design cut flower arrangements using basic design shapes
- Select materials and design dried flower and silk flower arrangements using principles of design
- Construct corsages, boutonnieres and wedding flower arrangements
- Perform basic operations necessary in operating a retail flower shop
