

Tic-Tac-Toe Reading Response Ideas Quarter 1

Directions: In order to meet your quarterly goal, you need to respond to text at least 16 times. Within the Tic-Tac-Toe board you will find possible reading response journal ideas. Once you have completed that journal response you can cross it off or color the box.

Draw and label a picture of the character(s).	Free Choice <small>(You can repeat one of the other ideas or be creative and choose your own.)</small>	Draw and label a picture of your favorite part of the story	Draw a picture and label what happened in the beginning of the story
Free Choice <small>(You can repeat one of the other ideas or be creative and choose your own.)</small>	What was the character's problem? Draw and label your picture.	Draw a picture and label the setting of a story. The setting describes where the story took place	Draw a picture and label what happened at the end of the story
Who was your favorite character? Draw and label a picture of that character.	Draw and label a picture of how the character felt in the story.	How did the character solve his/her problem? Draw and label your picture.	Free Choice <small>(You can repeat one of the other ideas or be creative and choose your own.)</small>
Free Choice <small>(You can repeat one of the other ideas or be creative and choose your own.)</small>	Before reading a story, make a prediction of what might happen in the story. Draw a picture.	After reading a story, make a prediction of what could happen next. Draw a picture.	Draw a picture and label what happened in the middle of the story

Tic-Tac-Toe Reading Response Ideas Quarter 1

Directions: In order to meet your quarterly goal, you need to respond to text at least 16 times. Within the Tic-Tac-Toe board you will find possible reading response journal ideas. Once you have completed that journal response you can cross it off or color the box.

Draw and label a picture of the character(s).	Free Choice <small>(You can repeat one of the other ideas or be creative and choose your own.)</small>	Draw and label a picture of your favorite part of the story	Draw a picture and label what happened in the beginning of the story
Free Choice <small>(You can repeat one of the other ideas or be creative and choose your own.)</small>	What was the character's problem? Draw and label your picture.	Draw a picture and label the setting of a story. The setting describes where the story took place	Draw a picture and label what happened at the end of the story
Who was your favorite character? Draw and label a picture of that character.	Draw and label a picture of how the character felt in the story.	How did the character solve his/her problem? Draw and label your picture.	Free Choice <small>(You can repeat one of the other ideas or be creative and choose your own.)</small>
Free Choice <small>(You can repeat one of the other ideas or be creative and choose your own.)</small>	Before reading a story, make a prediction of what might happen in the story. Draw a picture.	After reading a story, make a prediction of what could happen next. Draw a picture.	Draw a picture and label what happened in the middle of the story